ABOUT

I'm learning to become a Web Developer after working in QA for a few years. I enjoy building things that work well and are easy to use. I recently completed a web development course where I learned HTML, CSS, and JavaScript, and I also earned the AWS Cloud Practitioner certificate.

I've worked closely with developers in the past and liked being part of that process. I enjoy working with others, solving problems, and learning new things. Now I'm looking for a junior role where I can keep growing and learn from experienced developers.
